‘WORLD OF MATHS’

Last week ‘World of Maths’ visited Coworth-Flexlands. Working in groups, Years 1-6 were able to enjoy and benefit from lots of practical challenges, including puzzles and games. The sessions were organised to cater for the different needs of each age group. They included many aspects of maths such as probability, investigations, shapes, weight and length.

‘World of Maths’ provides a wonderful experience for children to participate in practical mathematical activities.

It is hugely important that we help children to realise that their mathematical skills can be applied in a wide variety of ways.

The pupils gained a lot of confidence in their own capabilities and, as a result, we all had great mathematical fun!

The presenter of the workshop complimented all the pupils on their behaviour and their mathematical knowledge.

“Very different. We really enjoyed the workshop”

“Good working as a team”

“It was very clever and I learned a lot!

“Really cool.....!”

WEEKLY EVENTS

'Love is all around!'

This morning the school was treated to a special Valentine themed Assembly by the girls and boys in Reception.

Dressed as little hares, they retold the story of Little Nutbrown Hare from the children's classic—"Guess How Much I Love You" by Sam McBratney. Little Nutbrown Hare did his best to show that he loved his Dad, Big Nutbrown Hare, more than his dad loved him. With wonderfully creative and visual statements of size and quantity the children stretched their arms in the air, stood on their heads with their toes touching the sky and tried to hop as high as they could.

The children had also painted pictures of the things they loved most—taking it in turns to hold them up. There weren't many dry eyes in the hall!

With little Valentine gifts for each class from Reception the Assembly closed with a beautiful performance by the Chamber Choir of 'No Matter What' from Whistle Down the Wind'. Thank you to Mrs Guilfoyle.
